

How to Create and Sustain

Community Partnerships

2016

2015

Needs

Talk to your community organization to understand their needs and wants.

This may provide insight into the cultures and concerns of community members.

Equal Partners

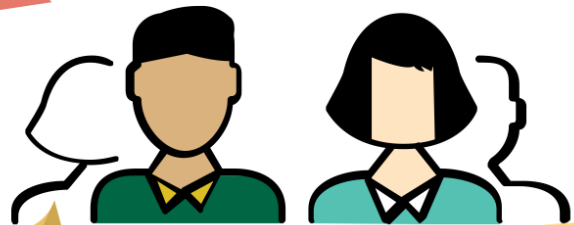

Work as a team. Clearly communicate the community's role in your project.

Discuss expectations short and long term.

Be Present

Be present and listen.

Stay present in the community; this will strengthen and build additional relationships.

Stay Present

Though it is only "3" steps, do not underestimate the time, effort, and level of commitment necessary to have an equitable and mutually beneficial relationship.
